The Product of the Scissors, the Pen and a Very Little Actual Labor

The taxable wealth of this state is estimated at $2,908,544,432.

A farmer near Clinton captured seven baby wolves last week. They were in a den in an old strawstack.

William J. Noll, 66 years old, while painting the roof of his home in Glasgow, fell to the ground and broke his neck.

The only known way to hire a domestic servant now, says the Jefferson City Democrat-Tribune, is to marry her.

"About all the modern girl knows about a needle is that you can use it only once on a Victrola," observes the Mexico Ledger.

J. W. Demoss, aged sixty-four, and Catherine Denuler, aged sixty-six, both of Farley, were married last week in Leavenworth by Judge Wetzig.

The school of the old days seemed to return when Boonville high school boys appeared at classes in overalls and the girls wore dresses of calico and gingham.

A Carthage young woman gardener suggests that it might be a good idea, in order to prevent the wilting of lettuce after a hard frost, to do the leaves up in curl papers the night before.

Miss Ruth Mary Jenkins, daughter of the late W. T. Jenkins of the Platte City landmark, was married last week at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Alice Jenkins, to Ross Z. McKinley of St. Louis.

"Say it with flowers," urge the florists, which moves the Lexington News to remark that with roses at $8 a dozen the young man who stutters will find love making an expensive proposition.

The Liberty Advance tells of carpenters finding a twist of "long green tobacco" while they were remodeling a house built seventy-two years ago. The tobacco is supposed to have been lost by carpenters at that time.

Here's the kind of poultry they have at Armstrong: A Mrs. Ranch has a rooster that has been sitting on duck eggs for two weeks; John Denny has a hen that has been carefully looking after four young kittens for some time.

An Eldorado man, who was given a young wolf by a mighty hunter, says that he has laid in all the approved dainties for raising hand fed babies, but has been unable to get the young wolf interested in any of them.

The Higginsville Jeffersonian openly declares: "People have been complaining about the Easter freeze killing the fruit. We are glad it did. Who would want a lot of fruit on the trees with sugar at thirty cents a pound?"

Some cities are going the overall club one better, notes the Carthage Press. They are forming "buy nothing" clubs. If, in addition to this, they can arrange an "eat nothing" club, they should at least be able to break even on the H. C. L. problem.

A petition asking that there be a closed season for quail in Adair county for the coming two years was filed with the county clerk. The petition bore the names of 100 persons as is required to make such a request valid. —Kirksville Express.

With both General Pershing and Champ Clark willin' Missouri will be to the front this year on presidential candidates, remarks the Macon Chronicle-Herald. Republicans contend that ours will be the "pivotal" state in the presidential election.

Since the "human fly" climbed up the side of Daniel Boone Tavern, the Slater News says that every small boy in town, as well as a number of college professors, are trying the feat, but few of them manage to get farther than the first tier of brick without falling.

Suit for 2 1/2 million dollars damages was filed in the circuit court at Kansas City Tuesday by Dr. B. Clark Hyde against The Star. The damages are claimed for an article printed in The Star July 23, 1919, which told of the dismissal of Hyde's libel suit against The Star for 2 1/2 million dollars. The libel suit was filed April 3, brought to Pettis county from her native state in 1850. She was the mother of seven children and outlived all of them except the youngest son who is now 80 years old and lives in Sedalia.

Raymond E. Gobin, who was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and paroled on the recommendation and petition of officials of the Red Cross, has been arrested at Elko, Nev., on a charge of felony and his parole here has been revoked by Judge Dawson and he will serve his sentence out at the penitentiary at Jefferson City.—Nodaway Democrat-Forum.

A cook's prank with a live mouse brought a verdict of $1,500 against the Western Union Telegraph Co., in the circuit court at Kansas City. Mrs. Pearl Smith, formerly a waitress in a restaurant operated by the company, testified that last September a fellow employee, a man cook, pursued her, carrying a live mouse by the tail. Mrs. Smith fell, she said, and afterwards brought suit against the company. The mouse escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Short, California, Mo., have a delightful fireplace in their bungalow, where they bake delicious cornbread in a great big iron skillet right on the coals of the glowing wood fire, and they put coals on the lid of the skillet, too, relates the Boonville Daily Republican. One of the hearthstones is kept about the fireplace is an iron teakettle—more than one hundred years old. It was used by Mr. Short's great-grandmother on his mother's side when she went to housekeeping back in "Nawth Ca'olina." She was a sister of "Old Hickory" Jackson.

A decrease of 51 in population at Maryville is shown by the government census returns as made public from Washington Tuesday. The 1910 census gave the county seat a population of 4,762, while the 1920 count gives it 4,711. This represents a loss of 1.1 per cent.
